AUSTRIAN PARLIAMENT IN SESSION

(By Associated Press.)
Vienna, June 12.—The new Austrian parliament, the lower house of which was elected for the first time by universal suffrage, assembled for its initial session today. Owing to the changed condition of affairs the developments of the session will be followed with keen interest not only in Austria but in all Europe.
It is predicted that the parliament will now become a practical working body, not an obstructive one as heretofore. In the past it has been dominated by the Germans, largely on racial lines, but the success of the Socialists at the recent election has wiped out the racial lines and substituted socialism and clericalism as the lines of cleavage. It is generally conceded that the change will work for the general good.

Baseball Players and Foot Racers!
Louis J. Kruger, ex-champion long distance foot racer of Germany and Holland, writes, Oct. 27, 1901: "During my training of eight weeks' foot races at Salt Lake City, in April last, I used Ballard's Snow Liniment to my greatest satisfaction. Therefore, I highly recommend Snow Liniment to all who are troubled with sprains, bruises or rheumatism." 25c, 50c and $1.00.—C. R. Renfro.

CONNECTICUT CHURCH 200 YEARS OLD.

(By Associated Press.)
Stratford, Conn., June 12.—Many eminent churchmen gathered here today and took part in a notable celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Connecticut's first Episcopal church. Christ church and parish was founded here early in April, 1707, but the prayer book was not officially used at a public service until June 12, following the founding, and it was this fact which fixed the date of the bicentennial celebration. Prominent among those who took part in the exercises today were Bishop Brewster of Connecticut, Bishop Potter of New York, President Hadley of Yale University and Prof. William A. Dunning of Columbia University.

THE GROWTH OF FISHES.

Males Attain Their Maturity Earlier Than Females.

There is now in course of arrangement in the Central hall of the Natural History museum at South Kensington, a most interesting exhibition illustrating some of the principal features of the fishery investigation work of the Marine Biological Association, toward the support of which the chancellor of the exchequer was recently asked to increase the government grant. Specimens of pollack are on view showing the annual growth rate in the English channel, which varies from about one and a half to two and a half inches at the age of three to four months to 2 1/2 inches at the end of the sixth summer. A series of scales taken from the same fish at various periods are also exhibited in illustration of another method of determining the age of fish. In like manner a number of plaice taken from the bays and estuaries on the east coast of England, the English channel and the southern part of the North sea are on exhibition, an examination showing that for the first three years the growth rate of both males and females is practically identical, and that after that period the growth of the males is slower than that of females, a circumstance which is associated with the earlier maturity of the males.

A Dog Worth Knowing.

Two years ago a boy 14 years old named Edward Sweeney, living at Opelika, Ala., was followed home by a small dog. The animal was bob-tailed and squint-eyed and by no means good looking, and the boy was laughed at for having him around. Within a week, however, the dog brought home a five-dollar bill in his mouth. The next week he brought a silver dollar. Then he brought a pocket knife, and followed that with a dollar bill. There has hardly been a week in these two years that the dog has not found something. He makes it his business to hunt the streets and highways, and often travels a distance of 20 miles. Up to the present date he has found and brought home $28 in cash, besides many useful things.

Not the Right Man.

A large number of readers, in eluding many clergymen from all over the country, entered the clerical anecdotes competition of the Church Family Newspaper. The first prize goes to Rev. G. Emery, rector of Penmaen, S. O., Glamorgan, England, for this:

"At a village church a wedding was fixed for a certain date. The happy morn arrived, and in due course a youthful swain and faire lady presented themselves at the chancel steps.

"The service proceeded smoothly as far as the question, 'Will thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?' Whereupon the supposed bridegroom stammered blushing, 'Please, sir, I'm not the right man.' 'Not the right man?' exclaimed the clergyman, 'ughast! Then where is the right man?'

"He's down at the bottom of the church, sir. He's ashamed to come up."

Clever Autograph Fiend.

Hall Cates has a great horror of the autograph hunter, but during his latest visit to America he was trapped by a wily collector in a very curious way. One day a porter at the hotel brought him a registered letter. He signed the receipt, and was then asked to sign a second paper, which he was told had to be returned to the sender of the letter. Not to American ways, he did so, and when he opened the letter found it to be a note of thanks for his autographs, which he had, of course, appended to the paper.

Spoken With Patriotic Pride.

"You have nothing that carries with it the charm of antiquity," said the European.
"Oh, yes, we have," answered the rich American. "It won't be long before we have the market in that line cornered. We're buying up antiques faster than you can make 'em."
